TASTES OF TEXAS

A Bar-B-Que Lunch Party?

Photos by Fred Rodriguez

Aside from the "Best Tasting Bar-B-Que in the West", Tucker's Crosseyed Buffalo Bar-B-Que Kitchen (the former Jug Little's of 1514 Broadway) celebrates each incoming weekend with a Big Bash Lunch Party, from 11:30 am to 3 pm each Friday. D.L. (top photo) and Rena Tucker (not photographed), proprietors, carry on the Jug Little's tradition with the assistance of daughters, (center photo left to right) Anita Lewis and Sherri Hollaend.

Texas Legend Cecil Caldwell and West Texas' newest sensation, The Texas Breed Band provide a fascinating combination of "fiddled Top-40 contemporary" country music each week. Thank God It's Friday-warm up for the weekend. Don't miss out on the Party action and that delicious smoked cooking!

The Texas Breed Band will also take to the stage from 9 pm till 1:30 am Friday, August 7th and Saturday, August 8th at Rosie's Back Door Bar & Grill of 3703 Avenue Q in Lubbock for a "follow up" weekend bash.

The TASTES OF TEXAS went to a Bar-B-Que Lunch Party! Yes Sir, the Tucker family knows how to put on a party. With a combination plate of the succulent smoked Bar-B-Que you could sink your teeth into. If you haven't been to Tucker's Crosseyed Buffalo you're missing out. I recommend the combination plate; that way you'll establish a choice for your future visit. Believe me-you'll definitely be back for more. The TASTES OF TEXAS compliments the Tucker Family and Staff for their great hospitality in making my visit an enjoyable one.

Inncredible Inn Schedules Headline Performance Of Joey Allen

By Leandro Rivera
The Entertainer Showcase Magazine

Joey Allen, born in Waco, Texas and raised in Lubbock, is no "newcomer" to the entertainment arena of West Texas and New Mexico. As an established rock'n'roll/country entertainer now for over 18 years, Joey continues to bring back the fascinating memories of Buddy Holly, Hank Williams, Johnny Horton and Elvis Presley together with the renditions of popular songs by present super-stars. Joey not only merely sings these memories but performs them in detail delivering the sound, the feeling, the energy and electricity as well as the visual impact that made these "forefathers of music" famous super-stars. Joey pays tribute to their influences with each performance.

Joey first became interested in music in 1963 at the age of 12 reciting to Buddy Holly's recordings while visiting a friends house. To the date with a strong admiration and inspiration of Holly's music, Joey is capable of performing every musical tune that Holly ever released, "It was like nothing I'd ever heard before..." says Joey... "a unique sound...I've been a Holly fan since."

Joey began as he put it "banging on the guitar" at the age of 14. "I would go to my brother-in-law's apartment to play around with his guitar. I didn't have one at the time... when I learned my first three basic chords, I started playing 'in-law parties' on Friday nights," Joey stated. Joey's first stage performance occurred two years later with Tommy Hancock at the Cotton Club of Slaton Highway, and thereafter started going around to the local "out-of-the-way" night spots playing for tips.

It wasn't till 1970 that Joey developed his pickin' skills. He became associated with Joe Ely. "I was cooking over at the International House of Pancakes when I met Joe Ely one night," Joey stated, "He came in and sang for his breakfast about two o'clock in the morning. I started asking him some questions like - hey can you really make any money doing this besides walking in and making your breakfast? He said 'yea man, you can eat steak every night!'"

Land of Enchantment

Joey and Joe became such close friends that they both joined the Ringling Brothers Circus where they both played for tips. After discovering that "all the glitter wasn't gold" at the circus, Joey returned to Lubbock a few months later to form his own band. He initiated the group's first gig that same year at the Longhorn Club.

In 1976 Joey released his first 45 single recording, "Cold, Cold Heart" and "Peggy Sue" reflecting the influences of both Hank Williams and Buddy Holly, respectively. His first was released on Don Caldwell's Texas Soul Record label. His second single recording featuring "The Return of the Purple People Eater" and "West Texas Waltz" was released in '79 by Mission City Records of Nashville. A year later he released "Songs of Love" (recorded on both sides) on his personal record label, Tornado Records. Joey is presently preparing to release his most recent recordings on an album to be titled "Honky Tonk Hardwood Floor." This recording involving the expertise of Don Caldwell and producer Loyd Maines, a Maines Brother, will feature two of Joey's original compositions; "All My Days Seem Like Blue Mondays," a Rockabilly number, and "Whiskey Waltzes" a country style composition with contributions provided by Lubbock's own Phillip Payne. Other contributions include Larry Holly's (Buddy Holly's brother) "Wild Oats" - a progressive country song; a gospel flavored recording "Sing Me More Songs About Jesus," with Bill Joe Shaver's signature; and the remake of Hank William's "Cold Cold Heart." Four album cuts; "Honky Tonk Hardwood Floor," "Brand New Man," "I Washed My Hands In Muddy Water" and "What a Wonderful World" will be released on single rpms. An official "release party" to be announced within the next two months is in the making to distribute 250 cassettes and an additional 250 pressed albums.

Joey Allen is a father of three children; two sons, Joey Jr. of 12 yrs. and Jason of 8 yrs; and a daughter, Jennifer of 6 years.

Joey's advice to newcomers in the music business is "hang in there....if you're hungry and you're waiting in line to be fed, stand there long enough and sooner or later you'll eat." In addition "a strong faith in God" attributes to his survival. He further suggests to "stay away from booze and drugs.... that sort of thing can really destroy an artist's career before he even realizes what's happened."

Joey Allen's future headlined performances are scheduled from 7pm-11pm, August 21st, 22nd, 28th and 29th and September 5th thru 6th at the Incredible's Restaurant & Saloon located at the intersection of Hwy.37 North Alto Village and Ski Road just 4.5 miles north of Ruidoso N.M. The Incredible also offers fine dining as an extra special experience. Their menu there is a result of many of their own favorite experiences and years of travel. For reservations and further information call (505) 336-4312.

PROFILE

Shelly West A Genuine Family Name In Country Music

The popularity of country music is based on characteristics that are unique to this style of music: it is genuine and authentic. These same special qualities are also responsible for the tremendous popularity now being realized by Warner Bros./Viva artist Shelly West. To hear her sing or to see her perform, one thing becomes immediately clear - Shelly is as genuine as the music she sings.

When you hear Shelly's distinctive voice, you know she is pure country. The acceptance of her records reflects this special quality. Her debut solo single, "Jose Cuervo," quickly climbed to number one on the country charts and became Billboard magazine's No.1 charted country single for 1983. The song was released from her first solo album, West By West, as was another top-five hit "Flight 309 To Tennessee." October 1983 saw the release of her Red Hot album along with her next single, the top-ten hit "Another Motel Memory."

A favorable nationwide response for Shelly's single, "Somebody Buy This Cowgirl A Beer," off of her Red Hot album became evident. Numerous radio stations aired the song several weeks as an album cut prior to its actual album release.

Shelly's third solo album, Don't Make Me Wait On The Moon, is a collection of ten, soulful, scintillating and sensational songs that match her distinctive vocal style with a supporting cast of top-notch studio musicians and two of the best producers in modern country music - Barry Beckett and Jim Ed Norman. Featuring Shelly's latest single release, "Now There's You," Don't Make Me Wait On The Moon has all the earmarks of an instant country classic. But then, that's come to be expected from Shelly.

As a solo artist, Shelly's quick rise in popularity has been due, in a large part, to the success she has realized from being one-half of one of country music's most popular duets: Frizzell and West. The first endeavor by Shelly and David Frizzell (the brother of the late, legendary Lefty Frizzell). "You're The Reason God Made Oklahoma," went to number one and has become a country standard. Such hits as "Texas State Of Mind," "Husbands And Wives," "I Just Came Here To Dance," and "Silent Partners" followed. The success of Shelly and David's debut duet album, Carryin' On The Family Names, set the pace for the duo with additional album and single recordings.

The theme of their first album is genuine to Shelly. She is carrying on her family name. The daughter of Dottie West, one of country music's best known singers and songwriters, Shelly West comes from a blue-blooded line of country artists. Her father is steel guitarist Bill West, while her brothers, Kerry and Morris, are talented musicians in their own right. All of the West offspring have toured with their mother, and Shelly's turn came in 1975 when she toured for two years with Dottie as a back-up singer. It was during this time that she met Allen Frizzell, brother of both Lefty and David Frizzell. Allen and Shelly moved to California where she teamed up with David Frizzell. Shelly is grateful for the opportunity to work with David. "The duet will always be special to me, and we plan to work together as much as we can in the future. But David and I are also grateful to our fans for the success of our solo careers."

It's obvious that she is successful, not only with her records, but when she performs live. The influence of her family, working with David, her distinctive vocal qualities, and her sincere personality are all important in giving Shelly the ability to reach her audiences. She explains, "What I enjoy most is singing songs that move people. If the song is sad, I hope they will feel that; if it's happy, I want them to feel good. And when you go on stage, you put all your own troubles aside and sing for the people. I love that." She has sung for people all across the country at major clubs, concert halls, fairs and special events. Shelly has shared the stage with such notable entertainers as Merle Haggard, Mickey Gilley, John Anderson, Loretta Lynn and Lee Greenwood.

She is now sharing her distinctive voice and special personality with her fans by other mediums in addition to records and live performances. She had a cameo role in the Clint Eastwood film "Honky Tonk Man" in which she and David appear as a duo auditioning for the Grand Ole Opry. Shelly has been featured on such television programs as the "Tonight Show," "Solid Gold," "Merv Griffin," plus many others. The duo's first concept video for their song "Silent Partners" received broad exposure across the country.

It's obvious that Shelly's career is just beginning. As a duo, Frizzell and West have won more than sixteen national awards from such prestigious organizations as the Country Music Association, Billboard, Radio and Records, Cash Box, Music City News and the Academy of Country Music. Her song "Jose Cuervo" was previously nominated for the song of the year award by the Academy of Country Music. She performed at the international music festival in Wembley, England.

While witnessing the performance of Shelly & her band earlier this month at the Barn nightclub in Ruidoso, New Mexico, Tammy Johnson (Entertainer Showcase representative) stated, "Shelly and her group are the most uniquely harmonizing band I have ever heard."

Shelly West's distinctive country voice, sincere personality and family ties are all examples of why country music is popular today: they are all genuine and authentic. Her wealth of hard-won experience has delivered the most entertaining new country collection in recent memory. It's the kind of music that never goes out of style - straight-from-the-heart, down-to-earth and aiming for the stars.

AT LARGE JOHN MORETTI

KOHM's Progress, Gray Hairs For MTV, And Ellerbee: Alive & Well

By John Moretti

Considering what it takes these days to get an FM radio station on the air, KOHM has just about won its battle to begin providing full-time classical programming to local residents. Dr. Clive Kinghorn, Mass Communications faculty member and director of Tech's KTXT-FM, told me it's just a matter of securing the go-ahead from the Federal Communications Commission to upgrade KOHM's power from 3,000 watts to 20,000 watts. Kinghorn noted that public support for the proposed facility has been nothing short of mind-boggling. So far, more than $80,000 has been raised toward the $100,000 target, and that figure is clear of expenses. Of course equipment will have to be purchased and installed, programming developed for the hours the station will be on the air (Kinghorn is modestly aiming for 365 18-hour days-per-year), and a staff of volunteers organized (the most difficult hurdle in running a nonstop business like radio), but Kinghorn is unabashedly optimistic they can do the job. The potential for a station like KOHM is unlimited. An affiliation with National Public Radio may be applied for (NPR has been - and still is - a purveyor of widely lauded programming such as "All Things Considered"). The station will have other options as well, such as tying-in live - or via tape-delay - to WFMT Chicago's celebrated satellite service, "The Beethoven Network," and opera from San Francisco, Chicago, and Milwaukee. The format may even allow for other musical art forms such as jazz, folk, or even big band. Simply put, the wait is going to be worth it. The FCC's deadline for petitions to deny the upgrade has passed, the construction permit has been signed, and the basic license to broadcast is tucked away safely in a file cabinet. Unless a nasty case of the bureaucratic flu finds its way into FCC headquarters, Lubbock should be enjoying the best of Bach to Bartok by the first of the new year.

Ch-ch-ch-changes: Music Television - alias MTV - continues to go through them as the network enters its sixth year of Gonzo broadcasting without any of the five original faces who helped launch the video era. And, to prove once again that nothing - and I mean nothing - is sacred, plans are on the boards to finally scrap "The Young Ones," a sitcom comedy cross between Monty Python and Animal House which currently airs at 10:30 p.m. Sundays. If you own a VCR, there's still time to tape all six or seven episodes of the show before its demise. Perhaps that's why I'm so fond of the program - it's the first show I've seen in a long time which can hold up to repeated viewing and still make me howl. MTV reports "The Young Ones" will probably be replaced by an in-house production entitled, "The Comic Strip."

I ran into vintage local musician Mike Pritchard at a reggae party (dee barthday splash, mon) thrown by Lubbock Audio-Visual V.P. Scott McMullan and was thrilled to hear, above the calypso din, that he's putting together a new band with drummer Bobby McDowell, bassist Jimmy Mason, and string-bender extraordinaire Jesse Taylor. The band, as yet unnamed, will serve up a steady diet of blues and R&B and will concentrate on regional touring. Fill your gas cans while prices are cheap, or cross your fingers that we'll be treated to some of their fine playing at any of the area's clubs.

Pity poor Linda Ellerbee. Every news program she's been part of has eventually earned the "thumbs down" for poor ratings, while we viewers have stayed up late just to catch a few words of her genuinely clever reportage of all that's offbeat, strange, and humorous. Ellerbee has just announced the formation of her own production company named - oddly enough - Lucky Duck Productions, which will be developing another "news in review" show for ABC. Despite her run of lousy ratings, Ellerbee is still commanding yearly salaries of nearly half-a-million bucks. Just proves the lady has something the networks haven't figured out how to use. And so it goes.

FASHION GLIMPSE

A Practical Approach To Hair Fashion Simplicity

By Fred Rodriguez
The Entertainer Showcase Magazine

"The Marriage of Hair & Fashion" article previously published in the Entertainer's Fashion Glimpse column touched on the needs of children in terms of summer hair styles and fashions. With this issue's column we hope to establish a better understanding of the children's needs in relation to a practical approach for the parents. Personal hair care tips are readily available from hair stylist upon request. Most stylists will assist their customers in establishing individual personality and personal appearance as well as public appeal.

"Appearance is very important to most of our customers - young and old both," says Phil Flores, proprietor of Hair Designs by Phil of Lubbock.

"We have found that children in particular are very cautious about how they look. Unfortunately many parents tend to oversee children's preferences as influenced by rock and movie stars and idols in the media," Flores added.

According to Flores, most of these hair styles attracted to children are so easy to maintain that they are referred to with such simplified titles as "wash'n'wear." For example, the "wash'n'wear" style can be worn wet or dry or even flaired-up with the simple task of adding a "dab" of styling gel. An important factor emphasized by Flores, "that a good hair style should be easily maintained," is the original idea behind such a cut. It should also allow for different approaches on identifying one's own personality for a variety of occasions."

AFTER

This style, modeled by Marco Rodriguez, illustrates a before and after pose. Such a subtle change will undoubtedly have a tremendous instant impact in the child's self image.

With this style, the actual day to day care is simplified and eliminates time needed to prepare for a busy day each morning. The "before" illustration obviously took more time to comb because of its upper and lower length. As Flores indicated, a young child's hair tends to become more difficult to control when long. A little hair gel as illustrated in the "after" pose compliments a "fast-pace-rush" commonly experienced before exposing oneself to the outside world. Other factors to consider in hair styling is proper cutting and designing to compliment the subject's body, head and facial features.

Flores' creativity and patience with his clients is remarkably noted within the hair styling industry of Lubbock. Customer satisfaction is undoubtedly on top of the list of priorities practiced by the staff of Hair Designs by Phil.
